

Ireland InVOLved Winner Marie Carroll brings home the Bronze for Ireland!

December 10, 2008

On International Volunteer day, Volunteering Ireland, with the sponsorship of BHP Insurances, travelled with the Ireland InVOLved Award overall winner Marie Carroll to participate in the European Trophy for Voluntary Work. Marie received thousands of votes through the Federation Francaise du Benevolat Associatif (FFBA) online forum and was honoured with the Bronze award for her contribution to Irish society, and in turn to European society.

Jessica Ryan, Project Development Manager, spoke on behalf of Volunteering Ireland about the importance of recognising and celebrating the work of volunteers and introduced the Irish volunteer at the ceremony. It was a genuine privilege to share the stage with such a wide variety of dedicated and remarkable volunteers from across Europe. Marie's award really honours the hard work of all volunteers in the Republic of Ireland and she is an outstanding representative completely deserving of these honours.

Volunteering Ireland wants to congratulate Marie on her recognition as well as once again commend the hard work of all those giving of their time and energy to volunteer in Ireland. Well Done!
